

TYPE FDF

The TROX fire dampers provide isolation of fire areas in ventilation and air-conditioning systems. The construction and operation corresponds to the principal requirements of fire protection installations. The symmetrical position of the damper blade allows installation into walls or ceilings (horizontal and vertical) of the direction of air flow. The external operation and control components - enables the installed damper to be rapidly checked for correct functioning.